Dear Souders Families,

This week kindergarten wrapped up their apple unit by switching classes!

In Mrs. Tarney's class, students made predictions about whether or not apples would float, and documented their data. Together they made class graphs and compared the predictions and results. It was so neat to see the differences in thinking!

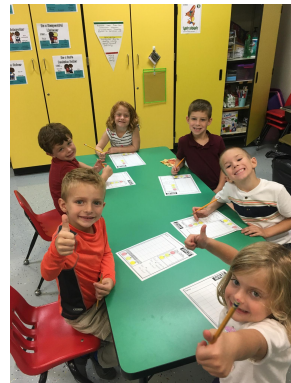

In Miss Norton's class, students had a tasty experience! They tasted a variety of apples, discussed the word "opinion" and shared opinions about favorite apples. They then graphed the results together.

Students in Mrs. Bailey's class exercised creative muscles and their fine motor muscles to write a sentence, color an apple tree, add a background, and add apples using paint and Q-tips.

Below are photos from the day.

Have a great weekend.

Mr. Cox
